

Floor Of Overpass Nearing Completion

Rain today and a forecast for more showers tomorrow threatened to delay pouring of the final section of the W. State St. overpass.

This picture, taken yesterday by the News photographer, shows workmen of A. P. O'Horo Construction Co., "jockeying" crane-supported concrete device into position over the ribbed floor. The reinforcement bars for the bridge are nearly all in place and completion of the span is expected soon.

Opening of the overpass is anticipated by June 1.

Cambridge Tense After Wallace Visit

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP)—An outburst of violence in the wake of a presidential campaign speech by Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace left this center of racial strife in the grip of new tensions today.

Two demonstrators and five

National Guardsmen were injured in a melee touched off Monday night when about 200 singing, hand-clapping integrationists tried to march on the arena where Wallace had spoken.

They met a cordon of some of the 400 National Guardsmen hurried into this sensitive spot just to prevent such an act. Wallace had already left the town of 12,600. He had addressed about 1,500 supporters in his campaign in the May 19 Democratic primary and was applauded more than 40 times during a 45-minute speech attacking the civil rights bill pending in the Senate.

Balked by guardsmen wearing gas masks and holding rifles with fixed bayonets, the integrationists squatted in the street and sang "We Shall Not Be Moved."

Guardsmen used tear gas to disperse them, arrested 14 and slapped an 11 p.m. curfew on the city.

State officials met into early morning on the disposition of the arrested. Two were treated at Cambridge Hospital, one for a cut and the other for the ef-

Lisbon Council Awards Pool Repair Job

LISBON — Village Council Monday night hired Jack Watkins of Pittsburgh at $5 per hour to repair the Sadie VanFossan Swimming Pool and transferred $1,000 from the general fund to the pool fund to pay for the project.

Watkins will be assisted by two village employees in sealing the pool. He expects to have the pool ready to paint in two days.

Council and the pool commission have set June 6 as the tentative date for opening the pool. Miss Kathryn Mugridge, Lisbon RD 5, has been hired as pool manager and life guard. Linda Neill, freshman at Capital University, and Norma Crook, senior at Lisbon High School, will be basket girls and assistant life guards. A male lifeguard also is sought.

Sale of season tickets will begin shortly. In other business Council voted to hold only one meeting a month during June, July, and August, on the second Monday. Clerk - treasurer Ray Hemp-

Because of Levy Rejection

School Delay Studied By Southern Local

Southern Local School District's administration, the Board of Education and teaching staff, smitten by the rejection by more than 200 votes of its 8.8-mill operating levy last Tuesday, were today deliberating emergency steps to be taken in face of drastically needed funds.

Teachers, alarmed over the surprising levy turn-down by voters and facing an apparently dim future under the present financial situation, convened with Executive Head Jack Baker this afternoon. A special executive session of the board will follow tonight to attempt to make preliminary plans for next year's school opening, to be acted on at the regular session next Monday night.

The Board of Education at its pre - primary meeting warned district residents by resolution that the opening of school may be postponed until the operating levy passes. The levy was

2 Girls, Boys Tie Academically; Graduation Set

An unprecedented situation exists at West Branch High School as the time has arrived to name top seniors to be honored at commencement for scholastic achievement over the past four years.

Two boys and two girls ended in a four-way tie for top place. Each has a 3.8 point average on the basis of a perfect grade of 4.0.

The top-rated seniors are Dan Lashley, Gary Clark, Judy Albright and Twila Brice.

"Never in the history of the high school has this occurred," Principal Ramon Scott says. Ordinarily, the high - ranking scholar is named valedictorian and the second-rated, salutatorian. Because of the four - way split no such designations were made.

They will present talks as part of the annual graduation program June 1 at 8 p.m. at the West Branch High School gym, utilizing the sports arena for this purpose for the first time since its construction.

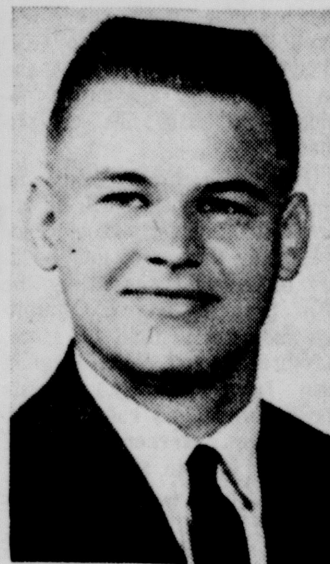

Dan Lashley, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hilker Jr., of RD 4, Alliance, is a member of the National Honor Society, Rifle Club, French Club, Math and Science Club (Sigma Mu) and Latin Club. As a junior, he was an alternate to Boys' State.

Cannon, House Veteran, Succumbs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., veteran chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, died today. He was 85.

Aides said Cannon had entered Washington Hospital Center Monday, but said they did not know the reason for his entry.

Death occurred about 4 a.m. (EDT) the congressman's office was advised.

A peppery and agile figure despite his age and slight stature—he was only a 140-pounder—Cannon was dean of the House in point of age at the time of death.

He had been a member since 1922 and was outranked in service only by Rep. Carl Vinson, D-Ga.

Associates said he had been active and apparently in top health through last week, but had complained Sunday of not

Ohio Board Okays School Funds for E. Liverpool If --

East Liverpool will receive $990,958 from the State Board of Education toward a $4.3 building program if the city can raise the addition $3,334,000.

The state board took action Monday on the application filed by the East Liverpool Board of Education last January. The state board also granted the city authority to place a bond issue before the voters at the next election in order to raise the necessary funds.

If the city raises the money, thereby getting the state aid, it will erect a new high school and three new elementary buildings.

The high school will contain 48 rooms and cost an estimated $2.3 million. Two of the elementary buildings will have 25 rooms and cost an estimated $650,000 each with the third building having 23 rooms and costing about $630,000. About $35,000 would be used for a contingency fund.

Car Hits Tree, 4 Youths Hurt

Wellsville Brothers, Friend Hospitalized

Three Wellsville brothers and their companion were injured, all but one requiring hospitalizing, when their car barged into two trees and a fence Monday at 9:40 p.m. on the Old Ironstone Rd., about 2½ miles south of their city.

Most seriously hurt was the car owner, Paul T. Campbell, 19, who was a passenger. He is listed as critical at East Liverpool City Hospital with fractures of the right arm and right leg and puncture wounds of both arms.

Another passenger, Harold Boggs Jr., 15, is listed as poor with severe lacerations of the face and a possible broken left shoulder.

Also injured were the driver, Harold's brother, Gerald, 16, who received lacerations of the forehead and possible chest injuries, and the youngest brother, Raymond Boggs, 13, whose left arm and leg were cut. Gerald is in fair condition; Raymond was treated and released.

The Lisbon barracks of the State Highway Patrol said Gerald lost control of the car as the youths headed northeast on the Ironstone Rd., about two miles southwest of Route 39. The vehicle went into a skid to the left, then veered off the right side of the road, plowing into the pair of trees and fence. Campbell's auto was considered totaled.

Loan Agreements Are Signed by Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) — With money and friendly persuasion, President Johnson has moved to dispel Latin Americans' doubts about his interest in their problems and in the Alliance for Progress.

"I felt he was sincere and warm," an Argentine diplomat said at the White House Monday night after hearing Johnson announce $40 million in fresh credits under the alliance to 13 Latin-American nations.

Johnson said the United States will double its assistance activities under the program and "there will be twice as much accomplished as in any previous year."

After addressing the Latin - American ambassadors to Washington and the chiefs of missions to the Organization of American States, Johnson signed 12 separate loan agreements covering 13 countries. Normally such agreements are announced by the State Department.

They will help fight malaria in Brazil, train farmers in Bolivia, for the first time establish three rural electric cooperatives serving 10,000 homes and farms in the Colombian countryside. They also will bring credits and assistance to 21,000 small farms in the land reform and colonization program of Peru, help construct a new seaport in Chile, help Mexico establish a national agricultural center and provide Food for Peace commodities to Ecuador.

Although the $40 million was a comparatively modest amount by the standards of current aid projects, it was aimed for maximum effect. Johnson spoke to the Latin diplomats in a persuasive tone, departing frequently from his prepared text.

The President went to the crux of Latin - American problems when he linked economic progress and representative democracy. "and the freedom it nourishes," he said, material progress is an aimless enterprise destroying the dignity of spirit it is meant to liberate. We will continue to join you to encourage democracy until we build a hemisphere of free nations from Tierra del Fuego to the Arctic Circle."

After his speech Johnson invited the diplomats to join him in another room at the White House for a small talk. "After all we are all brothers," he said.

Another activist group, Revolutionary Recovery Movement—MMR—reported it is mailing out English translations of a speech by its head, Bay of Pigs leader Manuel Artime, predicting "a long, hard war full of blood and sacrifice."

He was quoted in his March

Light Votes Seen In W. Virginia, Nebraska

Two Primaries Held Today

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
WASHINGTON (AP) — Light voter turnouts were expected today with New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller running unopposed in West Virginia's Republican presidential primary and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona alone on the GOP presidential ballot in Nebraska. In both states, Democratic delegates to be selected are expected to favor President Johnson. Rockefeller has no opposition in West Virginia, and write-in votes are not counted. Goldwater, the GOP frontrunner in delegate strength, may run into write-in opposition in Nebraska from supporters of Henry Cabot Lodge, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Rockefeller.

The expected Rockefeller and Goldwater victories in the two presidential primaries may be presidential race. Neither vote is binding on delegates to the Republican National Convention.

None of the candidates for the 4 spots on the West Virginia delegation are pledged to a candidate.

Most of the Nebraska delegate candidates favor Goldwater. Six district delegates are being picked today, and 10 at-large delegates are to be chosen June 1 at a state GOP convention.

Rhode Island Republicans are also picking their convention have little effect on the GOP delegation—at two district and one statewide convention tonight. The state has no primary.

Gov. John Chafee says he hopes the delegation will be uncommitted. Supporters of Goldwater say they have four backers on a slate chosen by the GOP State Executive Committee and plan to fight for more.

Nebraska and West Virginia also have primary contests for governor and congressmen. Races for governor held chief attention in both states.

Rockefeller was busy campaigning today in Oregon where six GOP presidential contenders square off Friday in the week's most important political test.

Goldwater made his only primary appearance in Nebraska Monday night. Speaking to a statewide radio-television network, he attacked the Johnson administration's handling of the war in South Viet Nam and said a Republican president could bring peace to Southeast Asia.

Hoffa Raided Union Fund, U.S. Charges

CHICAGO (AP) — James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union, and seven codefendants raided a Teamsters pension fund in order to help Hoffa out of personal financial difficulties, the federal government charged Monday in U.S. District Court.

In his opening statement of the mail fraud and conspiracy trial of the eight defendants, Charles Z. Smith, special assistant U.S. attorney, said the government would prove that they fraudulently arranged $25 million in loans from the pension fund over a 4½-year period.

Smith told a jury of eight men and four women that $1 million of that amount was diverted to the defendants' own use.

The jury and four alternates were selected after two weeks of examining prospective jurors during which nearly 600 veniremen were questioned.

Smith said the loans were part of a scheme to help extricate Hoffa from personal financial difficulties stemming from his involvement in a housing project for retired persons in Brevard County, Fla., called Sun Valley Inc.

Smith, a tall, bespectacled Negro, told the jury Hoffa used his influence to "obtain fraudulent loans in return for which the defendants received kickbacks in the form of fees, stock options and stock interest."

Hoffa is a trustee of the Central States, Southeast and Southwest Area Pension Fund which has its headquarters in Chicago.

A stolen gas credit card led police to the discovery and, previously, to the body of another boy in Florida.

Testimony Continues In Robbery Trial

Lisbon — Testimony continued today in Common Pleas Court in the trial of Sanford A. Davis, 32, Smiths Ferry, Pa., charged with the armed robbery of two elderly Negley area sisters last Aug. 30.

The sisters, Misses Leona and Ida Ward, aged 65 and 61, respectively, told the jury Monday Sanford Davis and his brother, James, 26, of East Liverpool, had asked them for permission to hunt groundhogs on the farm the day before the robbery.

They also testified they had picked the two out of a lineup Feb. 20, at the county jail.

The state introduced a pistol allegedly held by one of the robbers against Leona Ward's head during the holdup in which over $200 in bills was taken. The two sisters were tied up with clothline by the robbers.

Crash Victim In Serious Condition

A Youngstown man who was badly hurt in a one-car crash Saturday night while riding with a Berlin Center area woman, also injured, near Deerfield, is listed in serious condition at Youngstown South Side Hospital today after undergoing surgery there Monday.

Surgeons have inserted tubes in the throat of Andy Bakes, 47, of 1313 Aberdeen Ave., Youngstown, to permit him to breathe more easily. He was transferred to Youngstown from Alliance City Hospital yesterday with severe chest and head injuries sustained when the car he was driving plunged into a tree at about 11 p. m. Saturday on Route 224 near the intersection of Route 225.

His passenger, Mrs. Martha Huston, 49, of RD 1, Berlin Center is improving, Alliance City Hospital reported today. She is listed in fair condition with scalp cuts and possible skull and back injuries.

Bakes' auto skidded in the rain as he was in the act of passing another car. The Ravenna post of the Highway Patrol is investigating the mishap.

Plane Crashes Take Big Toll

4 Mishaps Monday Leave 92 Dead

MANILA (AP) — Ninety-two persons were dead or missing today following four military plane crashes around the world. Most of the victims were American military personnel.

A fifth plane, a U.S. Air Force supersonic fighter, crashed in the Philippines today but the pilot parachuted to safety.

The four fatal crashes occurred Monday in the Philippines, off Spain, in southern England and in Alabama.

At Clark Air Base north of Manila, a U.S. Military Air Transport jetliner with 83 persons aboard crashed short of a runway and burst into flames. Seventy-three persons died in the wreckage and another two died in the base hospital.

The other victim was an American serviceman riding in a tax which the plane struck as it headed for the runway, the Air Force said.

The eight people on board who survived the crash were in the base hospital. The Filipino cab driver and another American passenger in the taxi also were hospitalized.

Aboard the four-engine C135 were 9 Air Force crewmen, a flight nurse, 48 Air Force passengers, 19 Navy men, 4 Coast Guardsmen and 2 Nationalist Chinese.

"I don't think anybody knows what caused this thing," an Air Force spokesman said. "There was nothing in the plane's behavior that could give a clue to any mechanical failure."

No indication of distress came from the pilot as he brought the big jet in from Hickam Air Base, Hawaii.

Landing in a rainstorm, the plane struck a 42-foot antenna-like aircraft navigational aid just inside the base fence, hit the taxi on a road running along the base perimeter, and broke up in flames.

The C135 was on a troop airlift mission from Travis Air Base, Calif. It was to return sick and injured personnel to the United States.

The Air Force said the crash was the first involving a C35 in the Western Transport Air Force, and only the second for a MATS C35 in more than 75 million miles the service has flown the big planes since June 1961.

In the other fatal crashes: A 24-hour air and sea search failed to find the 10 crewmen of a U.S. Navy long-range patrol plane that crashed at sea 20 miles off Cadiz, Spain.

The plane, based at Jacksonville, Fla., was taking part in maneuvering base at Rota, Spain.

Four crewmen were killed in the crash in southern England of a British Vulcan bomber, one of a type that can carry Britain's H-bombs. Two crewmen parachuted and were injured.

A U.S. Air Force C119 carrying 43 student paratroopers to a jump zone made a crash landing in a field near Searle, Ala. Two men were killed.

Commissioners Buy Court Clerk Supplies

There were three other bids for the supplies which will be used by the clerk of courts office. The Youngstown Office Supply bid $636.12; Columbus Book, $715, and Herr Printing Co., Columbus, $765.

In other business, Middleton Township trustees were awarded a $300 slag grant.

Chief Juvenile Officer Cornelius Csepke was authorized to go to Charleston, W. Va. Wednesday to pick up a ward of the juvenile court.

Russell Reichenbach, dog warden, and Harold McCall, assistant dog warden, were authorized to attend a rabies control conference at Dublin near Columbus Thursday.

Commissioner Walter Hunston was absent. The commissioner's next meeting will be Thursday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Ann Landers
ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I had a good laugh reading that letter from the woman whose husband used to hit her during his sleep. After awhile it got me to thinking, and now I'm wondering about my old man. He hits me when he is awake.

It is always "accidental"—or so he says. And I really can't prove it isn't. A few weeks ago he was hanging a picture and dropped it on my head. I thought he had fractured my skull.

He has burned me with cigars and hit me with the garden rake. Last year he almost ran me over with the car. (He was backing out of the driveway and didn't see me trimming the hedges.)

Please tell me if you think these accidents mean anything.—D.F.

Dear D.F.: Yes, they mean something. They mean your husband is careless, awkward and accident-prone. They might also mean that he has mixed emotions about you.

My advice is to keep alert when your husband is in the vicinity and signal your position frequently. If anything like a car accident occurs again insist that he get some professional help.

Lucky at Cards

Dear Ann: I'm a very good card player and enjoy almost any kind of game. I usually win. These last several months I have not been invited to many card games. My husband commented on this last night and said it was because I win too often. He said it would be a good idea if I let others win once in awhile.

This seems wrong. I would not want to play cards with anyone who would let ME win. I feel every person should play his best. Letting someone win is a form of cheating. When I expressed this view he said I was wrong.

Am I? Or is he?—NO FAKER.

Dear No: Your husband is wrong on two counts:

First, I don't believe you are being invited less often because you win too frequently.

ly. I suspect you are not a gracious winner, which is something quite different. People like to compete against good players because it helps improve their own game.

Second, playing less than your best IS dishonest. Everyone should play to win.

Sniffles Set

Dear Ann: We have four children under 12 years of age. Since February at least one of my brood has been at home with a cold, the mumps, the flu, measles or chickenpox. Yesterday when I went to school on parents' visiting day I learned why my kids were always sick.

I counted a dozen children who should have been at home. Four boys were coughing violently, five others were sneezing and blowing their noses and could not breathe with their mouths closed. Two 7-year-olds had their heads down on their desks and looked feverish. One little girl had spots which I'm sure were measles.

I'm furious that some mothers are so anxious to get rid of their children that they push them out the door when they should be at home in bed. They do not care if their sick children infect others. What can be done about this?—WET HEN.

Dear Wet: Almost every school has a nurse. The teacher is supposed to send the children who are ill to the nurse. The nurse decides if the child should be sent home. Since this procedure obviously is not being practiced in the school your children attend, you should discuss it with the principal.

Whenever you get 25 kids together at least four are going to have running noses. If your children get plenty of rest and proper nourishment you are protecting them to the best of your ability.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

By ALAN GILL
(The Sitcom Explosion — II)
If an Arthur Miller work were a piece of sculpture rather than theater (and I'm thinking especially of his latest, "After the Fall"), then I think it would be composed of so many huge, prickly shafts of metallic waste fused together with a soldering iron and called "Conscience."

On the other hand, the type of light comedy written by Jean Kerr ("Mary, Mary") or Muriel Resnick ("Any Wednesday") would be an intricate little structure made up of a thousand bits of colored glass painstakingly cemented with Elmer's Glue-All.

IF YOU SAW "MARY, MARY" on the stage or in the movies, I'd guess that you were entertained for a good half of it by the dazzling interplay of clever lines that winked like the fragments of Christmas tree ornaments in the sun or sometimes flew like tracer bullets in the dark. It's a pleasant little bable that shows work, work, work in every nicely honed phrase. Mrs. Kerr's intense ordeal of writing it over the weeks and then the months must have been comparable to the labors of the monks at their illuminated manuscripts. But it's brought home a good deal of bacon, that little comedy, and maybe a crown jewel or two.

But I recall how, after 60 minutes of "Mary, Mary," "Ash Wednesday" and most other shows of their ilk, my eyes would glaze over. The bits of colored glass were putting me to sleep. The Glue-All was coming unstuck. Any thought of the show's going on beyond that final curtain would have been somewhat stupefying, I had to admit. And the idea of "Mary, Mary's" returning a week later with the further adventures of Mary and Bob McKellaway would have been intolerable.

Mary and Bob are given a horse? Mary and Bob have their photographs printed in Pravda? Mary and Bob discover they're not legally married? Mary and Bob buy a love seat that is stuffed with half a million dollars in kidnap money? Stupefying notion, isn't it? Intolerable.

BUT THIS NOTION IS precisely the ground upon which the structure of American television is laid. Through many a sunlit hour and up to the very threshold of the 11 o'clock news, the Marys and Bobs do get a horse, a scandal, a second wedding and a windfall, as the sound of packaged laughter tinkles across the land. From one Portland to the other, it seems, every Pa, Ma, Sistine and Bud is pulling his hair close to the flickering screen so as not to miss one droll word falling from the lips of the televised Pa, Ma, Sistine and Bud — named Hazel, Grindle, Ozzie, Patty, Donna, Jethro, ob, Katy, Gomer, Andy, Lucy, Bub and Uncle Martin.

Since the audience ratings of most situation comedies now reach into ionospheric realms high above a network vice-president's prettiest dreams, it's no wonder that the "My Three Sons" and "Farmers Daughters" among us — and there were 20 of them at the outset of the current season — will increase to 33, by my count, in the fall, with no mention of the many daytime re-runs of casualties long forgotten. The "Mary, Mary, Mary, Marys" march on into infinity.

QUICKLY LET ME ADD that the difference between a Jean Kerr play and an episode in a televised comedy series is vast. One is made to go on wit, the other on commercial necessity. One has been put together with loving care and a thousand sprucings-up, the other is jerry-built on cruel deadlines and acid indigestion. The series writer is too tightly laced in by time to retell his lines and get a precise beat to the humor. Besides, when it comes to sex, he has to watch what he says and Mrs. Kerr doesn't.

Jean Kerr, who is a first-class wit, could (for one member of her audience) just about sustain an evening. I'll be darned if I can figure out how "Hazel" can sustain an entire season and then come back the next and the next.

I've heard it said that because the sitcoms are so terribly popular among U. S. TV viewers, they must have inherent value. But an awful lot of people smoke three packs of the very harshest cigarettes a day, belt down quarts of the foulest booze, eat frozen meat pies for dinner every night, and watch men in peak hats and striped knickers trot around the base paths for hours on end. Then they go to the movies to see "The Fall of the Roman Empire" and "Beach Party." (Publisher's Newspaper Syndicate)

On-the-Site Inspection

Chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, has joined Defense Secretary McNamara in South Viet Nam "to get a sense of reality about the situation."

This is the latest in a mounting series of visits to the area, though it might have been the climatic end of the defense secretary's visits if a plot to blow up a bridge and kill him had been successful.

The United States is not at war in Southeast Asia. It has been doing its best to stay out of war there, despite military involvements that have caused death and injuries among its "advisers" to South Vietnamese troops.

But North Viet Nam considers itself to be at war with the United States, regardless of the feeling of the United States. Its troops fire on U.S. planes and troops. Its agents attack U.S. shipping and apparently tried to kill a high U.S. official.

North Viet Nam, backed by the Chinese People's Republic, is making no effort to stay out of war with the United States. Instead, it is making a studied effort to provoke war.

When his becomes more clearly evident, as it will as provocations continue to multiply, the problem confronting Secretary McNamara, Gen. Maxwell and other U.S. officials will become acute:

How does the United States back away from a war it wants to win but is unwilling to fight? Will on-the-site inspection provide an answer?

Military Scandal In Viet Nam

Air Force Capt. Edwin Gerald Shank Jr. was killed in Viet Nam March 24, one of many casualties in the bloody war the United States is "not fighting" against the Viet Cong. Capt. Shank's letters to his wife, from which excerpts have been published in U.S. News & World Report (May 4 edition) may be the means of jarring the military confusion in Viet Nam into sharper focus.

The letters reveal two things about the action in Viet Nam.

First, they reveal that the United States is making a botch of its military efforts in behalf of South Viet Nam by using obsolete equipment and going in with too little, too late.

Second, they reveal that U.S. combat forces in South Viet Nam are discouraged and demoralized by realization that military botching has put them in jeopardy. They live not only in the shadow of death but in the shadow of military disgrace. Like soldiers from time immemorial, they are wondering if anyone at headquarters knows what they are up against, or cares what is happening to them. Capt. Shank liked the country and its people but was disconsolate about U.S. policy.

"I am over here to do the best job possible for my country," he wrote last Jan. 20. "Yet my country will do nothing for me or any of my buddies or even for itself. I love America. My country is the best, but it is soft and has no guts about it at all."

U.S. policy in Viet Nam will be a sizzling issue in the 1964 presidential election. Democrats will defend the status quo described by the late Capt. Shanks. Republicans will insist there is only one thing to do if the United States intends to stay in South Viet Nam — stay here with its head high and its best foot forward.

Capt. Shanks has added confirmation to many other reports of a first-class military scandal festering in Viet Nam.

Awaiting Word

Prospects ought to be brighter for at least two major state highway projects in this district, as the result of Ohio voters' approval of the $500 million highway bond issue a week ago.

These are the U. S. Route 62 relocation in the Salem-Alliance area and the resumption of the Lake Erie to Ohio River highway (Route 11).

Prospects OUGHT TO BE brighter, we said.

Salem civic leaders and citizens generally are still awaiting word from the Ohio Department of Highways headquarters in Columbus and Gov. James Rhodes' office concerning the "where and when" of the Route 62 relocation. A pre-election promise was that action would be forthcoming if the state bond issue were approved. It was! What now, Columbus?

Pepper at 80

Harry Truman is turning 80 on May 8 with the pepper still flying out of him whenever he goes into action. There is something about him I've always wanted to say. After all, when a man gets to be 80 he ceases to be controversial and becomes institutional. Mr. Truman is one of my favorite people.

When fate thrust him into the presidency and he became a familiar figure, he identified himself in my mind with another wonderful man — my own father.

He looked like my father. His gestures were like my father's.

He had the same fierce, uncompromising pride in his daughter my father would have had if his sons had been daughters.

Throughout his years in the White House, I said many times that Harry Truman evinced the same straight-line thinking that characterized my father's thoughts. I have never doubted that my father would have made the decision to bring the war with Japan to a definitive conclusion with the two nuclear bombs that Mr. Truman ordered to be used.

THE PEOPLE who took advantage of Mr. Truman's good faith never found any bad faith to take advantage of. His integrity never was in doubt. Like his own, own good Queen Bess, who never wanted anything but to return to Independence, Mo., and live her own life, Mr. Truman wanted to get out of the cauldron and back to the serenity of his home town. He was essentially a simple, uncomplicated man — no complexities.

By Truman Twill

All these things were in the pattern of my father's way of living. I used to say when Mr. Truman was president that he might very well be seeing one of the great men or our time in action, meaning my father would have been a giant in history if fate had put him in the right place at the right time, too.

One other thing about Harry Truman needs to be said here at this time — the fact I am his namesake.

When he was an obscure senator from Missouri, away back before he became chairman of the Special Committee To Investigate the National Defense Program, Mr. Truman's name came up one day in connection with a discussion of what to call the writer of this column. Another name had been mentioned — Twill, which was then and is now the name of diagonal lines or ribs in fabrics; hence, any fabric featuring ribs in its texture.

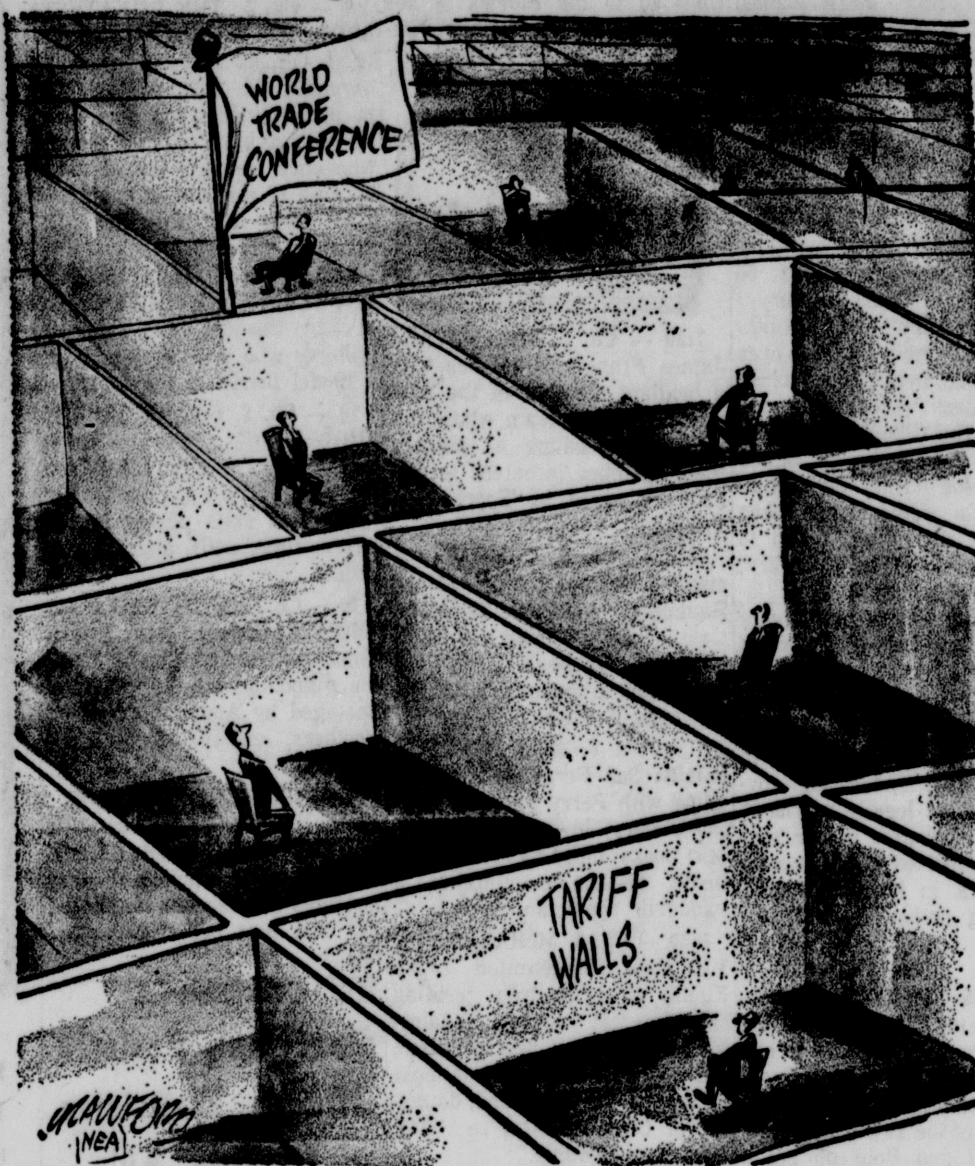

THE SOUND of the two words — Truman and Twill — brought them together in an alliterative union. That's how Truman Twill was born.

Republicans were to criticize the name for being politically suggestive. Democrats were to suspect it was a form of apple polishing. It was neither. It was an accident. The name could have been Timothy Twill, or Thomas Thump.

Alliteration was in the air that fateful day, that's all.

Happy birthday to Harry S. Truman. Sometimes I disagreed with you, sir, but I always loved you. For a special reason.

"The Meeting Will Please Come to Order—"

Reds Aid at Puerto Rico

By VICTOR RIESEL

MIAMI
Moving quietly from one Cuban exile underground headquarters to another in this "front-line" city reminds one of pre-war Berlin. The anti-Communist intelligence fathered — and moldering — here is vast and awesome in its extent. And it is here that I have been able to trace, for example, the activities of Chinese Communist operations based in Cuba and aimed at Puerto Rico.

My objective has been to keep track of the first Puerto Ricans who have gone to work for the Asian Communist bloc. They make up a cell headed by Narciso Rabell-Martinez and Marta Sanchez-Olmeda, whose activities in Peking I revealed on April 3.

IT CAN BE discovered now that they slipped from Puerto Rico to Cuba early in February, flew to Spain and made their way east until they arrived in Peking on March 8. For almost two weeks they were briefed and debriefed and finally on March 9 they conferred with Mao Tse-tung.

On the Communist mainland this is the most "royal" touch. After that, their appearances brought out vast crowds which they harangued with reports of U.S. "mass murders."

Having been theatrically launched in Communist China as the vanguard of Puerto Rico's revolution, they made their way slowly through South China to Hanoi, North Viet Nam. On March 31 they were greeted at the railroad station there with flowers, massed musicians and crowds which cheered as directed.

As the leader of the Puerto Rican group, Narciso Rabell handed out interviews as though he were president on an "Independent Peoples Republic of Puerto Rico." He billed himself as the secretary of the central committee of the "Union of Students of Puerto Rico in the Struggle for National Independence." The lady with him, Marta Sanchez, was introduced as a member of this organization's presidium.

IN SEPARATE speeches they denounced the U.S. troops in South Viet Nam as murderers and attached South Vietnamese resistance to the Viet Cong invasion.

After being exploited in North Viet Nam, the Puerto Rican contingent was flown to Pyongyang in North Korea.

Evidence of the value that the Asian Communist Propagandists place on the Puerto Rican brigade was immediately apparent. Upon their arrival at the airport, they were told they would be received shortly by Premier Kim Il-sung who rarely sees delegations from the West.

The message was brought to the Puerto Ricans by a welcoming committee made up of men powerful in North Korea, but virtually unknown even in the Communist world because they so rarely permit themselves to break into world headlines.

Among them were Pak Yong-kuk, director of a powerful section of the central committee of the Korean Workers party and Hong Sun-kwon, chairman of the central committee of the Korean Democratic Youth League.

On April 20 the Puerto Rican group was received by Premier Kim Il-sung at his personal headquarters. After a long conference the premier—leader of a state still at "war" with the U.S. and the United Nations — honored his visitors with a special luncheon party.

IN PYONGYANG too the Puerto Rican propagandists attacked U.S. troops and true officials as imperialists who were part of the "same force" which "occupies" Puerto Rico.

Shortly Rabell-Martinez and Sanchez-Olmeda will take their party back to Cuba to set up a base of operations for agitation inside Puerto Rico itself. Their cell, the first of its kind, will be controlled strictly by the powerful Chinese headquarters now so influential in Havana.

They will cooperate with the Communist Chinese office there which has hundreds of specialists in the spreading of mainland Chinese "culture."

The strategy will be to attempt to tie the Puerto Ricans to the Cubans and then to the China-Latin America Friendship Association which was so successful in Brazil until the revolution stopped it.

This, in turn, is part of the tactic of tying Cuba and other Latin Communists to the Afro-Asian-Latin American bloc in an effort to isolate the United States.

For the moment that's as far as my friends in the Cuban exile's underground have traced the Chinese Communist's first successful effort to develop cadres on American soil. We'll have more reports.

Diplomatic Lag

By TOM LAMBERT

Herald Tribune News Service
It's a relatively rare day that doesn't produce an important development or crisis abroad—a coup in Brazil, Laos or Zanzibar, a move by Gen. de Gaulle—and it's equally rare when the State Department learns about it immediately through its own communications system.

That system links the big, sprawling department building and Secretary Dean Rusk's seventh floor office by telephone. America's 100 embassies and its approximately 200 legation and consular posts abroad.

The system in many places is wheezing toward senility, plagued by such phenomena as atmospheric storms or foreigners' siestas, and is generally ungrounded.

The State Department has asked Congress for about $10 million for more communications employees and newer, safer equipment for its worldwide system, much of it leaning on devices and machines 20 years old.

SOME OF THAT money would be used to modernize and speed up coding machines which now plug along at 60 words a minute, some to obtain electronic coding devices which transmit and decode telegrams simultaneously.

Another department hope is to automate portions of its Washington communications center, in which fewer than 300 employees code, transmit, receive and decode an average of up to 2,500 outgoing and incoming cables each day.

The department's system has three principal segments: the telephone, radio - telegraph and 89 couriers based abroad (the Panama detachment currently is working out of Miami because of the recent Canal Zone troubles) who fly millions of miles annually carrying bulkier and less urgent classified material to embassies around the world.

The telephone often is the most rapid. But some State Department officials dislike it because it can be tapped, is sometimes unclear and provides no permanent record.

THE RADIO-TELEGRAPH is the mule of the system, carrying the bulk of the department's dispatches. But it provides the major security problem. "Black Chamber" experts around the world are trying continually to crack the codes in which most of the dispatches are sent.

Although the State Department has no "flash" communications devices comparable with some used by the Strategic Air Command—its commander can raise any of his subordinates anywhere in the world by radio in perhaps 15 seconds—there are segments of the department's system which are rapid and secure.

Rusk, by using his department's facilities, and perhaps some sections of the White House of military communications system, can get in touch almost immediately by telephone with a few of America's key embassies. When he uses those lines, secure against tappers or interference, he can talk openly and freely.

Using the State Department's private and direct radio-telegraph links with some U.S. embassies—not all of them are on the network—he can draft a 300-word urgent dispatch, have it encoded, transmitted decoded on the other end and in the receiver's hands in 30 minutes.

During a recent visit to South Viet Nam, Rusk was able to communicate quickly and candidly on a U.S. radio link with Vientiane when a coup erupted in that Laotian capital. He also was able to get in touch quickly with officials back home.

THOSE ARE exceptions rather than the rule in the department's communications system. Many of its sections are halting, uncertain and prey to all sorts of vagaries.

Ambassador Foy Kohler can pick up the telephone in his ninth floor office of the American Embassy in Moscow, for example, and place a call for Rusk if he wants to report to him urgently about some development in the Soviet Union.

But the call must go through the Soviet Union's state-controlled telephone exchange, and likely over commercial lines to Washington, and often can consider himself pretty lucky if he can raise Rusk in anything less than an hour.

Further, when the ambassador is connected with Rusk, he must talk guardedly if he is discussing sensitive information, because the telephone line is not secure throughout its length and

Rumble In South

By DAVID LAWRENCE

President Johnson may wish fully agree with the widely held theory that, since he comes from the South, he will carry the entire region in the election this year, but he isn't taking any chances. He actually began his presidential campaign last week with a speech-making tour of some of the Southern states.

A size-up, therefore, just made by Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-SC, is pertinent. In a CBS radio interview, Capital Cloakroom, the other day Mr. Thurmond was questioned as to how President Johnson would fare politically in the South next November. The reply was:

"Of course, this civil-rights bill could have its effect. And I would say, if a very strong civil rights bill is not passed, that President Johnson would run well. But if a strong civil rights bill is passed, it could affect him down there considerably."

When the South Carolina senator was then asked whether there might even be a third party in the South, he said:

"Well, of course, if a strong civil rights bill is passed and it is enforced, and if it brings tyranny to the people—which, in my judgment, it will—and if all of that should occur before the election, it's possible that a third party would get considerable votes. They might even get enough votes to throw the election (into the House of Representatives). It's impossible to say at this time what the situation will be."

ONLY A FEW days ago there was a significant happening in the state of Alabama. A regular Democratic party slate had been put on the ballot, pledged to vote for the party nominee.

The slate was backed by Alabama's own senators, John Sparkman and Lister Hill, both of whom had made it clear that they will vote against the civil rights bill now pending in the Senate.

Yet, when it came to choosers by a margin of about 4 - 1 selected the unpledged slate sponsored by Alabama's Gov.

Wallace.

Separate voting was required for each of the candidates for the 11 electoral positions. One unpledged elector was victorious by a total of 427,000 to 80,000. Another unpledged elector won by 430,000 to 93,000. All the others also obtained overwhelming majorities. There were some precincts in which the vote ran as high as 40-1 and in others 20-1 in favor of the unpledged electors. Oddly enough, the unpledged electors ran extremely well in North Alabama, which is TVA territory and the area in which anti-Wallace votes would be expected.

THE VOTER discontent in the South was the basis prior to last November for a widespread assumption that Sen. Goldwater might be given the presidential nomination of the Republican party by reason of his strength in the Southern States.

This view, however, was considerably altered when Vice President Lyndon Johnson, a native Texan, succeeded to the presidency. The voting in Alabama last week indicates clearly that there is an opposition to Mr. Johnson inside the Democratic party in the Southern States. It could be reflected in a "cross-over" vote from the Democratic party to the Republican party if Sen. Goldwater becomes the Republican presidential nominee.

If, on the other hand, any of the other men mentioned for the presidential nomination should be selected by the Republican national convention, it is quite likely that President Johnson will carry all of the South with the exception of Alabama and Mississippi. Thus the opportunity of the Republicans to gain electoral votes in the South is to a large extent related to the possible nomination of Sen. Goldwater.

IT HAS BECOME increasingly evident, moreover, in recent weeks that there also is a protest vote inside the Democratic party in the Northern States. This was manifested by the opposition votes recorded for Gov. Wallace in the Wisconsin and Indiana primaries, and by the results of other local elections in Northern cities, like Philadelphia, where the Negroes have been voting in a bloc and the whites have been taking the opposite side.

Gov. Welsh, who ran as a stand-in for President Johnson in last week's primary in Indiana, failed to carry a single all-white precinct in Gary. The Gary Post Tribune commented that political strategists must take notice when an area like highly industrialized and heavily unionized Lake County turns against President Johnson.

These elections are important because they show that the protest vote against the civil rights bill has been growing in recent months.

SO THE Republicans must decide whether they will lose more in the North by championing the bill unequivocally, or whether a middle-of-the-road position toward the issue will have to be adopted on the stump.

This could mean that, if Sen. Goldwater or former Vice President Nixon is nominated, either one would probably during the campaign assail certain sections of the civil rights bill on constitutional grounds, while maintaining support in general for the principle of "equal rights and equal opportunity."

Today In History

Today is Tuesday, May 12, the 133rd day of 1964. There are 233 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1943, the Battle of North Africa ended with the capture of Gen. Jürgen von Arnim and other German and Italian generals. Three years of warfare in Africa had ended.

On this date: In 1775, American Colonial forces captured Crown Point on Lake Champlain.

In 1820, the English founder of modern nursing, Florence Nightingale, was born.

In 1933, President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed the bill creating the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

In 1945, Moscow announced the capture of 63 Nazi generals in scattered resistance after V-E Day on the Eastern Front.

Ten years ago . . . President Dwight D. Eisenhower appealed to the free world not to write off French Indo-China, calling it a key to the defense of Southeast Asia.

Five years ago . . . All 31 persons aboard were killed in the explosion and crash of a Capital Airlines plane near Baltimore.

One year ago . . . President John F. Kennedy ordered federal troops into Alabama for possible use following the bombing of a Negro motel and rioting in Birmingham.

U.S. To Probe Union Payment of Hoffa Legal Fees

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department prepared today to dig into Teamsters Union financial records to find out how much the union has paid in legal expenses for its oft-indicted president, James R. Hoffa.

"We are going into the various cases involved," said a spokesman for Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, who announced the unprecedented investigation Monday.

Assistant Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds said the investigation may take at least six weeks because of a maze of financial dealings between Hoffa and his various lawyers in a number of states.

While the Labor Department has conducted thousands of investigations into the alleged improper use of union funds, a source said the Hoffa case is the first involving the question of legal fees.

The investigation, under the 1959 Landrum-Griffin labor law, was viewed as another blow to the sorely beset Hoffa. He was recently sentenced to eight years in prison on a federal charge, a decision he is appealing, and he is now on trial in Chicago on a charge of misusing union funds. There are also increasing signs of unrest among his 1.7 million union members.

The amount of Hoffa's legal expenses has been estimated by labor sources from hundreds of thousands of dollars up to $1 million.

Although the Labor Department can only investigate and make public the amount of union funds paid to defend Hoffa, the probe might open the way for individual Teamsters to sue union officers to recover the funds.

Rep. Clarence Cannon

feeling well.
Rep. George H. Mahon, D-Tex., shepherded a supplemental appropriation bill through request—a chore Cannon normally would have performed for himself.

Under the congressional seniority system Mahon, as the Democrat with the longest service on the Appropriations Committee behind Cannon, succeeds to the chairmanship.

Actually Cannon's Washington service extends long back of his tenure in the House.

In 1911 Champ Clark, then speaker of the House, persuaded him to come to the capital as a clerk in the speaker's office.

Cannon recalled not long ago that "I wanted to see the wheels go around" for a few weeks so he took the job on a temporary basis.

He never went back to Missouri to stay, and, one way or another, he has been personally making the wheels go around ever since.

He was elected House parliamentarian in 1917 and held the office until he was elected to membership from his 9th Missouri Congressional District.

He was rated one of the nation's leading authorities on parliamentary law and was a familiar figure to all who attended or watched Democratic national conventions in recent decades.

The slight figure in the frequent huddles with the late House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas, perennial convention chairman—that was Cannon.

A political convention can get into a gargantuan procedural snarl and "Mr. Sam" didn't want the job of running the show without his parliamentary expert to help out.

More formally in that field, Cannon was author of a number of standard works on parliamentary procedure and of treatises on the subject in Encyclopedia Britannica and Encyclopedia Americana.

The prime element of his reputation was toughness, but he was a man of many facets depending on the occasion—tough as a bulldog, stubborn as one of the mules for which his state is noted, or the doting grandpa that he was.

On occasion over the years the toughness came out in physical action. The record of his more than 40 years in the House shows fistic encounters in earlier years with such figures as former Rep. John Phillips of California and Rep. John Taber of New York, Republicans, and former Sen. Kenneth McKellar of Tennessee, Democrat.

The encounters, all relatively minor, occurred over differences on government money bills, all of which came through Cannon's hands.

The Missourian had a wide reputation as a tight man with the government's billions of dollars, and was proud of the billions he had helped chop out of spending proposals.

But with his own financing he was a little loose, especially when it came to silver dollars. He shelled out hundreds of them to children he didn't even know, whom he encountered on his official work rounds.

Cuba Explosive Problem, Rusk Warns NATO

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk warned the Western allies today that Cuba is an explosive problem presenting the danger of another world-shaking crisis.

Rusk told the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) Council that the United States is determined to continue aerial reconnaissance of Cuba. He declared that any attempt by Prime Minister Fidel Castro to interfere could create a severe problem.

He said he could see where it would be a serious matter for the other side as well, and pointed out a crisis could develop into one as serious as the confrontation of October, 1962, over Soviet missiles in Cuba.

The secretary was seeking NATO support for the U.S. trade embargo of the Communist island, a customer of such major American allies as Britain and France.

County Democrats Re-Elect Officers

Officers of the Columbiana County Democratic organization were re-elected at a meeting at the Democratic headquarters on N. Market St. in Lisbon Monday night. About 75 attended.

Re-elected were Don Gosney of Columbiana, county chairman; Atty. Guy Mauro of Salem and Atty. Paul Tobin of East Liverpool, vice chairman, and Maurice Rapoport of East Liverpool, secretary-treasurer.

Gosney had no opposition to retain the county chairmanship, although James Aldom of Salem was nominated by Leo Copacio. Aldom declined, however.

Campaign plans were discussed with candidates.

'Mac' Holds Confabs on Viet Nam War

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara arrived in Saigon today for a 36-hour visit and plunged into a series of heavily guarded conferences on the progress of the war in Viet Nam.

McNamara raced from one conference to another in Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge's car, with flak jackets piled on the floor, on the seat and behind his back for protection against Communist terrorist bullets, hand grenades and mines.

He was accompanied everywhere by a motorcade of vehicles bristling with police and a truck loaded with black-beretted Special Forces soldiers, their guns at the ready.

U.S. and Vietnamese security were taking no chances since discovery of a plot on McNamara's life. Viet Cong agents were caught Saturday night trying to mine a bridge the secretary was to cross.

McNamara on his arrival conferred for two hours with Lodge. Then, after a quick lunch at Lodge's residence, he began a series of conferences with top U.S. military officials.

Here for his fifth visit since South Viet Nam began more than two years ago, McNamara promised the United States will provide "whatever is required for however long it is required."

Air Force police checked all arrivals before McNamara landed and inspected the VIP room where he stopped after getting off his plane.

Police reported that one of the three Viet Cong arrested for the plot leaped from a second-floor window at police headquarters Monday. The suspect, Nguyen Van Troi, landed on a Jeep, broke his leg and was taken unconscious to a hospital.

fects of tear gas, then were returned to the National Guard armory. Two others were then sent to the hospital for treatment of minor injuries.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Robert Murphy said charges to be filed against some of those arrested still were under study.

"It may be foolish, if the climate stays as it is, to turn them loose in this inferno down here," he said.

Gloria Richardson, leader of the two-year-old integration movement in Cambridge, was among those arrested. Those not hospitalized were transferred to National Guard headquarters in Pikesville, across Chesapeake Bay and north of Baltimore.

The guardsmen ordered into Cambridge before Wallace's appearance at the invitation of the Dorchester Business and Citizens Association included units which were called out at the height of similar violence in Cambridge last summer. A token force of 10 had been assigned to the uneasy city throughout the winter, but there had been no curfew or other restrictions similar to those imposed after an outbreak of shootings and arson last July.

An elderly Salem area motorist and a Cuyahoga County youth escaped injury when their cars collided Monday at 11:35 a.m. on Route 45 at the intersection of Route 344, south of Salem.

James Gromley, 73, of RD 3 was driving south and turning east toward Franklin Square when a car operated by Howard Graham, 21, of Cleveland, also heading south and passing a truck between him and Gromley, struck the Gromley truck in the front end. The collision spun the truck around and it hit the guard rails. Graham was cited for passing at an intersection.

Portable Radar For Beloit Police Car Is Authorized

BELOIT — Council held a routine business meeting Monday night with the chief item of business the approval of the purchase of portable radar equipment for the police cruiser as part of a "Drive Careful!" campaign.

The equipment was purchased from Muniquip Corp. of Decatur, Ill., at a cost of $995. The radar can be transferred from one vehicle to another and is similar to that used by the State Patrol.

It was reported that plans are complete for the public meeting on the sewage plant May 21 at 8 p.m. at Beloit Elementary School.

The program will include a complete review of the sewer situation, Mayor William Eshelman said. The purpose, he said, is to keep the public informed of developments.

Among those on the program will be George Johnson, engineer from Dastoli Associates, Lewis Reimer of Toledo, financial adviser hired by the village on money matters relating to the plant; and a member of the State Board of Health.

A few residents near the proposed site on Derr St. have objected to the location of the plant, claiming it will detract from their properties.

The coupon, to be mailed to Cuba by exiles, says: "The Communist regime is near its end. When that moment arrives, the most responsible figures will try to flee, a flight already prepared, but they won't include you."

The message to Castro's what happened in Brazil. Joao Goulart (deposed president) fled in time, and left others behind, abandoned to their fate."

Trustees Give Vets Groups $25 Each

Perry Township trustees, meeting Monday night, granted $35 each to patriotic organizations to help defray expenses of properly observing Memorial Day.

The grants went to the American Legion, Amvets, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled American Veterans, 37th Division A.E.F. Veterans Association and the Sons of Union Veterans.

The trustees in other business, discussed a surface water drainage problem on E. 15th St. between Eastview and Westview Drives, and reminded people that new construction in the township area requires that building permits be obtained.

The permits may be obtained from Perry Township Zoning Inspector Harold England of the Goshen Road. The building permits are required by township law, Clerk R. L. Hutcheson said.

County GOP Group To Meet Thursday

The Columbiana County Republican Central Committee will reorganize and elect officers at a meeting Thursday at 8 p.m. in St. George's parish hall at Lisbon.

Atty. Charles A. Pike of Lisbon is chairman, Floyd Dillworth of Homeworth is vice chairman and Frank R. O'Hanlon of East Liverpool is secretary. James Gill of Columbiana has resigned as treasurer.

Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: While I was making my bed this morning with my lovely new "printed" sheets, I thought, "Isn't it a shame that we can't afford to have all our sheets in pretty patterns?"

Then I hit upon an idea? How could we do it ourselves?

For the top sheets on Mum's and Dad's beds, sew a pretty border of printed or plain percale over the border already there! This also reinforces the strength.

The bottom sheet can be left plain white or dyed to correspond with the flowered print or border which has been added. The pillow slips can be made from the same material or just a strip of border added to the old ones... which have been tinted or left white.

Now on small children's beds, the bottom sheet can have a giant animal in a pretty print (or solid) sewn right on top of the white sheet such as, say, "a big dog for boys or a cat for girls." Again the pillow cases to match.

For teen-age boys, a pennant in school colors with the pillow case of each color would be novel when applied on sheets, cases or spreads.

For teen-age girls a big heart sewn or applied in the middle of their sheet with their name would be nice!

With a little imagination all sorts of combinations can be made.

TOOTSIE.

Now, aren't you novel? This would make wonderful gifts. Let's look around for sheets on sale. What is great about your idea, is that if a sheet were thin in the middle (especially a fitted sheet) wouldn't this make it last longer?

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: When I make chocolate chip cookies, I do not fold the chips into the batter.

I drop the cookies on a cookie sheet, then push four chips into each cookie.

This way, there is no argument from the children about WHO GETS THE MOST CHIPS. Love your column.

S.R.B.

And aren't you a darling diplomat? Orchids to you!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: If you are placing a pan of partially cooked food in the refrigerator, and the pan has a knob that won't clear the shelf above.

Invert the lid — presto, it fits! Slides right under the shelf....

FRANCES BABIONE.

DEAR HELOISE: I use my automatic 30-cup coffee percolator as an ice tea dispenser in the summertime. It looks lovely indoors, or outdoors on my patio table.

After thoroughly cleaning the percolator I prepare my brewing tea, let cool, sweeten to taste, and we're all set.

My children love to serve to serve themselves, and so do my guests.

The percolator can also be used for serving hot chocolate, hot punch, cold lemonade, etc.

MRS. L. FRANCO.

DEAR HELOISE: If your children's blue jeans become too short to wear and they are still in good condition, try buying some sailcloth or any other type of heavy material in plain or plaid design and adding about a six or eight-inch-double-cuff.

The materials can either be turned up six inches over the leg of the blue jeans or turned half way to add a 3-inch-cuff. My kids happen to like the 6-inch "shorties" because they have started a new fad in our neighborhood.

Be sure to allow enough of the material, when cutting the strip, to fit around the bottom for a side seam.

Just sew the strip along the bottom of the pants legs and then turn it up on the outside. This not only adds a new fashion to the neighborhood, but makes your children an individualist, which he will love.

MAE HERNANDEZ.

DEAR HELOISE: During the summer when I go to the beach, I don't like to wear my watch. I found that by putting my wrist watch in a plastic capsule bottle, I could see the time by opening my beach bag. No sand in the watch and no looking for it at the bottom of the bag.

LOUISE ALBERT.

DEAR HELOISE: I clean my manual can-opener by boiling it in some hot soapy water once in awhile, rinsing it in hot water and then letting it dry thoroughly.

When dry, oil all removable parts and work into the moving parts. Lay the can opener on a paper towel and let it drain. Wipe off the excess oil before using.

MRS. CARL GLASS.

DEAR HELOISE: When lining kitchen drawers where spoons, knives, and forks are kept, I use heavy aluminum foil. It stays clean and all I have to do is wipe it with a sponge when cleaning the drawers.

I also find that foil lets the silver slide when you push the drawer back in place. For me, it's better than anything I have ever tried.

Does anyone have the answer to this? We all cringe whether our sofas are velvet, brocade, or cotton. If anyone knows how to remove this oil from the arms of our chairs... please take the time off today to drop us a card. We will be ever so thankful. All of us!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I remove the yellow discoloration from my kitchen appliances with a strong solution of household bleach in warm water.

For stubborn areas... dip a cloth in this solution and wring out real well... let the saturated cloth sit on the surface for several minutes.

Rinse well and then use an appliance wax to bring back the shiny surface.

Be sure to protect your precious little hands, gals.

PATSY FELMET.

DEAR HELOISE: With a family of young children, I discovered a way to use up those small pieces of leftover soap: Here's what I did:

I took a wash cloth, turned down about one-half-inch hem at top, then sewed up the other two sides. I then ran a tape through the hem for the drawingstring. Presto, a small bag!

I hang this bag on the faucet of the bath tub and put all small pieces of soap into it. When reasonably full, I tie the tape, but still keep it on the faucet. It scrubs the little ones clean and saves soap and the children just love to use this bag of soap pieces.

MARTHA.

DEAR HELOISE: Some of your readers have asked for idea for the use of old nylon stockings. I give mine to a friend who uses them for quilt stuffing! I'll bet they wash and dry nicely.

MARY JOHNSON.

I would not take your bet. YOU would win!

HELOISE.

Heloise welcomes all mail, especially household hints which she can pass on to readers as space permits. However, because of the tremendous volume of mail she receives daily, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will answer readers' questions in her column whenever possible.

Panama Advocate of Hard Line on Canal Leads Voting

PANAMA (AP)—Official returns from more than half the vote in Sunday's presidential election gave a commanding lead today to government candidate Marco A. Robles, advocate of a tough policy toward American rights in the Panama Canal Zone.

Electoral tribunal figures from 704 of 1,144 precincts gave Robles 86,447 votes to 73,131 for Dr. Arnulfo Arias, a slight favorite before the election.

About half the estimated 130,000 votes cast in Panama Province, where Arias had his greatest strength, were yet to be counted. It was believed the former president would have to take more than 70 per cent of the uncounted votes in the capital province to win.

Sullenness replaced the carnival atmosphere that had prevailed in the Arias camp. Some hinted at government manipulation, claiming that the Electoral Tribunal gave Robles an early edge to provoke Arias followers into violence. Then the National Guard could jail Arias and other leaders of his party.

A Robles victory could portend difficulty for the United States in negotiations on the Panama Canal treaty. Although all seven presidential candidates demand revision of the treaty and it was not an issue in the campaign, Arias was considered more sympathetic to the United States than Robles.

President Roberto Chiari, prevented by law from succeeding himself, had given the government coalition's backing to Robles, a 58-year-old banker-politician.

Arias, 63, drew his chief support from the lower-middle and lower classes and a large following of women.

Ohio Board Proposes New School Bus Purchase Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Board of Education has formally proposed a new centralized state purchase plan for public school buses which its hopes will withstand legal assaults.

The new plan, proposed by the board Monday is geared to the State Administrative Procedures Act, which requires a public hearing before the plan is put into effect.

The board's new proposal replaces one which has been blocked in the courts primarily because it failed to follow the Administrative Procedures Act.

The board said a public hearing will be held on the new plan at Columbus July 13. Board member Wayne E. Shaffer of Bryan, chairman of a committee with proposed the plan, said the new procedure might be in operation by Sept. 14.

The new plan would require most school districts receiving state aid to help buy buses to purchase the lowest bid chassis and body determined by statewide bidding.

Districts which are unable to get good service on the low bid chassis or have a bus fleet entirely of another make chassis would be exempted from the centralized purchase plan.

Shaffer said the state board will follow present emergency bus buying regulations until a new plan is in operation. The emergency plan authorizes local school boards to select the makes of buses they prefer.

Former board president Robert A. Manchester of Youngstown, a strong objector to the centralized purchase plan, told the board Monday that the new plan will "open the door to complete state control of education."

He said that in effect the state board is telling local school boards that it will spend their local tax money for them.

Voting on Antipoverty Bill Riders Expected To Begin

By STANLEY MEISLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The crucial voting on amendments to President Johnson's antipoverty bill is expected to begin today in the House Education and Labor Committee.

Democratic members of the committee have been meeting in caucus for a week to iron out their position on a series of amendments. They are reported in full agreement on all but one.

The one area of discord centers on the role of parochial schools and agencies should play in the local administration of the program.

Activities begin today with a meeting of the committee's special subcommittee on poverty. It is expected to approve the bill and send it to the full committee, which then will consider the series of amendments.

Republicans have complained loudly over the Democratic caucus meetings. They have cried "lockout" and "partisanship."

The committee's ranking Republican, Rep. Peter H. B. Frelinghuysen of New Jersey, has expressed fears about an attempted steamroller by the Democrats.

"We hope we will not be faced with the proposition of making immediate decisions," Frelinghuysen said Monday and added: "We're still optimistic that our views will be received."

Frelinghuysen and other Republicans say they want the bill changed, first, to eliminate what they call a new federal agency of poverty, and, second, to allot administrator the program.

These changes have been incorporated into a Republican bill introduced by Frelinghuysen.

Committee Republicans met for more than two hours Monday with Sargent Shriver, the man picked by President Johnson to administer the war on poverty.

Frelinghuysen later told newsmen that Shriver had not changed the minds of the Republicans "one iota."

Johnson's bill, which would provide $963 million in fiscal 1965 to fight poverty, would include a variety of programs:

1. A job corps, work-training programs, and work-study programs for youth.

2. Urban and rural community action programs.

3. Loans and grants to combat poverty in rural areas.

4. Loans to businesses to encourage employment and investment.

5. Funds to stimulate states for experimental programs to help unemployed fathers get jobs.

4 Juniors Chosen For Boys State

Cody Goard, Bob Moore, Dave Hartsough and "Bud" Winn will represent Salem Senior High School at the annual Boys' State, the American Legion-sponsored youth convention to be held June 11-20 at Ohio University in Athens.

An American Legion committee selected the four juniors after personal interviews and after teachers made preliminary choices.

Alternates are Richard Dilworth, Dave Freseman, Douglas Kiliman and Charles Joseph, who will go in the event a regular delegate cannot.

Goard, Moore and Hartsough are all Key Club members. Moore is president - elect and Hartsough, district lieutenant governor elect. Goard is also president of the Junior Class and on the varsity football team while Moore and Hartsough are both in the band. Winn is vice-president of the high school band and a member of the chorus.

Parents of the delegates are Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Goard, Dr. and Mrs. Sherman Moore, Dr. and Mrs. Clarence Hartsough, and Rev. and Mrs. Harold Winn.

His son, Michael, has undergone skin grafting after being burned severely in an accident and is convalescing at Salem City Hospital.

Ex-Foreman Sues Bliss for $264,855

CLEVELAND (AP) — A former maintenance foreman of E. W. Bliss Co. in Canton has filed a $264,855 damage suit, alleging he suffered because of slanderous remarks a Bliss Co. plant manager made about him.

The ex-foreman, Charles E. Richardson of (134 Weber Ave.) North Canton, filed the complaint Monday in U.S. District Court. He accused Hermann F. Bottcher, acting plant manager, of allegedly forcing him to resign from Bliss Co. June 12, 1963.

The petition said Bottcher falsely accused Richardson in the presence of others of soliciting favors and gratuities from suppliers of Bliss. Richardson asserted he has not been able to find suitable employment since leaving Bliss.

He asked for $4,855 in damages from loss of wages and $250,000 exemplary damages from the alleged slander.

ONE FINED, ONE FORFEITS

Would we drive a Buick with a Super Turbine transmission* all the way from Pasadena to New York City just to win Class C in the Mobil Economy Run?

Of course. And just in case anyone failed to get the message, we did it twice again. And won Class D and Class G. In all, Buick entered 4 classes, and won 3—more than any other make of car. (Remember when people used to think Buicks used a lot of gas?) Did we make our point about the Super Buick Motor Division

Turbine transmission? You bet. Obviously you aren't planning to drive 3,243 miles to prove your new Buick is economical. And you can't expect to get as many miles per gallon as the experts in the Economy Run. Still, it is nice to know you can win the economy run around town. And the good looks prize at the same time. Most Records May Fall In District Track Classic

Annual Event Slated Friday

Clippers' Ward Is Feature Attraction

By MARK W. MILLER
News Sports Editor

Rich in talent, this year's Class AA district track and field meet at Reilly Stadium here Friday could be one of the most notable in this section of the state.

Dueling for top honors will be defending champion Youngstown South, Youngstown Rayen and Columbiana.

In all events except the broad jump, the times or distances this season have either been bettered or come very close to the present district records.

Featured in the classic is the state's fastest sprint star, Jim Ward of Columbiana.

He will be shooting for marks in the 100-220 and 440 yard dashes.

THE CENTURY RECORD of 9.8 seconds is held by J. V. Clifford of Canton McKinley and was set in 1947. Ward has been timed in 9.7 this season.

Harding's Marvin established the current marks in the 220-yard dash (21.9) and quarter-mile race (49 seconds). Ward has a 21.5 and 48.5 timing in both sprints so far.

In the Century, Ward should get plenty of opposition from Ronnie Gilmer of Youngstown South and Marvin Smith of Youngstown East. Both have a 9.9 clocking for the short sprint.

Entered in the event are at least a dozen athletes who have run the 100-yard dash in 10.2 or faster.

The 880-yard run may be the most interesting on the card. Gene Metzgar of United, Bill Fullerton of East Palestine, Oscar Brown of Rayen, McCalter Jackson of Chaney and Cecil Nedelka of Garfield have all run the distance race right around 2:03.

A TOTAL OF 600 athletes are entered from 39 schools, and athletic director Fred Cope pointed out that the field might reach 45 teams.

Preliminaries and finals in the pole vault, high jump, shot put and broad jump will be held during the afternoon starting at noon.

Prelims and semi-finals will be held in both hurdle events and the two short sprints, also beginning at 12 o'clock. The finals will start at 7 p.m. with the running of the 120-yard high hurdles.

Schools entered are Alliance, Austintown Fitch, Beaver Local, Boardman, Campbell Memorial, Canfield, Champion, Columbiana, Crestwood, Field, Garfield, Girard, Howland, Hubbard, Kent Roosevelt, Kent State, Lakeview, Leavittsburg, Marlinton, Niles, Poland, Ravenna, Salem, Southeast, Struthers, Springfield Local, Warren Harding, West Branch and all the Youngstown schools, Cardinal Mooney, Chaney, East, North, Rayen, South, and Woodrow Wilson.

LEETONIA THINCLADS — Leetonia High School's track team is preparing for the Class A district track and field meet at Struthers Saturday.

Second row Frank Grimes, Jim Rance, Marty Orr, George

Zeppernick, Terry Gongaware, Bill Ripley, Frank Brooks and head coach Karl Kohor.

Third row Granly Marshall, Bill Engle, Frank Nicotera, Ed Woods, Paul Casey, Art Altomare, Frank Guido and manager Bill Houshour.

Anytime a pitcher comes up with a 4-1 record for the Houston Colts, he has to have something going for him. Dick Farrell, however, has an even more impressive statistic: He limited Willie Mays to 1-for-4.

The Colt right-hander, a hulking, 220-pounder, won his fourth game Monday night, pitching his eighth-place mates to a 4-1 triumph over National League-leading San Francisco.

He lowered his earned-run average to a respectable 2.14, which is even more respectable when it is considered that all his decisions have been against the league's tougher clubs: two victories over St. Louis, including a for-hitter, and a win and loss to Los Angeles.

And against the Giants, he allowed streaking Willie a single his first time up, then retired him three times in a row, striking him out once with two men on base. This, of course, is quite an accomplishment.

Farrell, who was 14-13 with the ninth-place club last season, scattered 10 hits about as effectively as possible and got the benefit of some strange Giant base-running.

Jesus Alou, leading off the first, singled, but was thrown out trying to make third on brother Matty's single. Mays then singled, but Farrell pitched out of it.

And in the fifth, Jesus doubled with one out and held up at third on Matty's single. Mays struck out and Matty broke for second. The throw went to second and Matty stopped. But Nellie Fox made a quick hrow to St. Louis edged Philadelphia 3-2 and Cincinnati rallied for a 7-victory over Pittsburgh in the only other games on the short National League schedule.

Pete Rose's three-run homer in the eighth inning provided the Reds with their victory at Pittsburgh, even though the Pirates rallied for two in their half of the inning.

Julian Javier's seventh-inning homer drove in all the Cardinal runs and gave lefty Ray Sadecki just enough working room to make his six-hitter stand up.

88th Annual Running Slated Saturday

Improving Scoundrel Could be Serious Threat In Preakness

By ORLO ROBERTSON

Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mesh Tenney isn't making any rash predictions. But there was a sneaking suspicion around ancient Pimlico today that the man with the white sombrero from California is readying a surprise for the 88th running of the 150,000-added Preakness Saturday.

Tenney won last year's Preakness with Candy Spots after the Rex Ellsworth colt had finished third in the Kentucky Derby.

He bids for the second jewel of the Triple Crown for 3-year-olds Saturday with Ellsworth's

The Scoundrel, who was third back of Northern Dancer and Hill Rise in this year's Derby.

The veteran trainer, whose conditioning methods often are considered unorthodox by the standards of the majority of trainers, doesn't care to compare The Scoundrel, a big robust son of the little-known Toulouse Lautrec, with Candy Spots. He just doesn't believe in making comparisons between horses.

But there is no concealing the fact that Tenney is more confident than he was prior to the Derby, in which The Scoundrel was beaten by 3 1/2 lengths for all of the money after holding the lead briefly at the one-mile mark.

"I look for my horse to improve a little every race," said Tenney as he talked of The Scoundrel's fine workout Sunday when he stepped one-mile in 1:38 1-5. The time was only two-fifths of a second off the track record. "I don't think it was too fast. I would consider it just about right."

Tenney was especially pleased that The Scoundrel changed leads without breaking stride—something he has had difficulty doing in past races.

"He still races a little green but he is improving," said Tenney.

All of this could mean bad news for Northern Dancer and Hill Rise who off their thrilling Derby duel figure to dominate the field of five or perhaps six.

Outfielder Brandt Makes Rare Infield Out In Oriole's Loss

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

Stu Miller has been hypnotizing batters for years, but he may have put his first base runner to sleep.

It happened Monday night at Washington, where the Orioles lost to the Senators 6-4, despite Miller's performance and an extra second baseman.

Miller, who seems to lull batters into submission with his slow stuff, got the call from the Oriole bullpen in the eventing inning with the score tied 3-3 and two Senators on base—Don Lock at third and Ken Hunt at first.

Miller proceeded to loft four of his pitches wide of the plate, intentionally walking Don Blasingame to load the bases. That forced Hunt over to second base where he apparently figured he could catch a few winks while Miller faced pitcher Bennie Daniels.

At any rate, when Daniels blooped one of Miller's bloopers into shallow center and it fell in front of outfielder Jackie Brandt, Hunt never left second base.

Brandt quickly turned himself into a second baseman, stepped on the bag and recorded a rare putout for an outfielder by forcing Blasingame, who had become a man without a base.

Lock, however, hadn't been caught napping and raced home with the tie-breaking run. Don Zimmer, who previously had collected three singles, followed with a two-run triple and Hunt was left somewhat less red-faced.

Elsewhere in the American League, Albie Pearson slammed a two-run homer and a pair of doubles while leading the Los Angeles Angels to a 6-5 victory over Kansas City, and Fred Whitfield hit a grand-slam homer and Larry Brown a three-run shot in Cleveland's 11-7 walloping of Boston.

The Chicago White Sox-Minnesota game was rained out.

The New York Yankees and Detroit were not scheduled.

Pearson homered in the second, doubled in the fifth and scored on a sacrifice fly by Jim Fregosi then came across with what turned out to be the decisive run when he doubled and scored on Billy Moran's single in the seventh. The A's, who lost their sixth in seven games, struck for three runs in the eighth before reliever Barry Latman cut off the rally.

Whitfield hit his grand slam in the fifth and Brown hit his three-run homer in a four-run eighth-inning uprising that sent the Indians and rookie Tommy John into the ninth with an 11-1 lead. The Red Sox, however, battled back, jamming in six runs after two were out in the ninth before Ted Abernathy put out the fire.

Marble Champion Advances To District

Barry Robbins, winner of the marble tournament held here recently, will represent Salem in the 13-15 age division in the district event at New Philadelphia Saturday, May 23.

Champions from Columbiana, Carroll, Coshocton, Harrison, Holmes, Jefferson, Stark, Wayne and Tuscarawas will compete in the tourney.

Robbins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Robbins of RD 3, earned his berth by winning the local tourney sponsored by the Allen K. Reynolds Post 832, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Salem Parks and Recreation Department at Centennial Park.

Other winners in the 7th annual marble event were Ronnie Mack, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mack, 673 E. Third St., in the 10-12-year-old bracket.

Tied for first place in the nine-and-under division were Anita and Alan Lodge, daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lodge of RD 3.

The winner in each group was awarded a medal.

Home Runs by Whitfield, Brown Snap Tribe Losing Streak 11-7

CLEVELAND (AP)—Tommy John, 20-year-old left-hander for the Cleveland Indians, seems to have regained his magic and proved that he belongs on the team.

John, who was chased by the New York Yankees before he could finish the first inning four days ago, turned in a fine performance Monday night as the Tribe whipped Boston 11-7. His record is now 2-1.

Home runs by Fred Whitfield and Larry Brown accounted for seven Cleveland runs as the Indians snapped a four-game losing streak and moved up a notch in the standings.

The Tribe cracked Red Sox pitching for 15 hits and an 11-1 lead, then survived a six-run, Boston rally with two out in the ninth.

Whitfield hit a grand slam homer in the fifth and Brown connected with two aboard in the eighth.

The Indians have now homered in seven straight games. Shortstop Dick Howser, who had two hits in five at-bats, has now hit safely in 10 straight games during which he has raised his batting average from below .200 to .304.

John, who hurled a three-hit ter May 3 against Baltimore, had a six-hitter and had faced only 27 batters in the first eight innings.

He appeared as if he were going to coast to his second complete game when the Red Sox drove the young southpaw to the showers in the ninth. An error by Max Alvis made all the runs Boston tallied in the final frame unearned.

The error, a walk and singles by Lou Clinton, Dick Stuart and Tony Conigliaro produced three Boston runs and brought on reliever Gary Bell. The right-hander promptly walked the next two men, forcing in one run. Chuck Schilling singled in two more runs before the Indians' Ted Abernathy got the side out.

The Tribe must release three players in order to get down to the required 25-player limit by Wednesday midnight. There had been talk John would not survive the cutdown, but it now appears the rookie hurler won't have to worry about it.

GOLF TIPS

NUMBER TWO

Keep your head down.
 1. Dust is less apt to blow in your eyes.
 2. Direct harmful rays of the sun are avoided.
 3. You look more like the pros
 on TV.
 4. No one can steal your ball

A word from THERON at the Country Store

The third annual Columbiana Boosters Club Sports Appreciation banquet is being held tonight at the South Side School.

"Bump" Elliott, Univarsity of Michigan head football coach, will be the speaker.

This banquet is the Booster Club's biggest event of the year.

Tomorrow night (Wednesday) the Christian Home Builders Class of St. Jacobs Church is presenting "The Belle of the West," a musical comedy at 8 o'clock at Fairfield School. No admission charge, but a freewill offering will be taken up between acts.

I am sure this will be a very interesting show. Tom Rudebeck is thie class president.

Today's Steak Winner:

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT
Pains In Region of Heart

If you have pains around your heart, don't neglect them. It is true that they may be due to a mild digestion, but they may also be due to a narrowing of the arteries or a hardening of the arteries that nourish the heart.

Pain will develop in any muscle that is forced to work with a reduced supply of oxygen. In the case of the heart the pain is called angina pectoris. It is often a forerunner of a coronary heart attack — a complete blocking of one of the coronary arteries.

So if you regard your anginal pains as a warning, much can often be done to prevent a full heart attack. What are the things that precipitate anginal pains in a person with narrowed coronary arteries?

ONE IS SUDDEN exposure to cold. But on cold days the exposure itself is not as likely to cause the pain as the increased exertion required to buck a strong wind or to tramp through deep snow. Your increased rate of breathing and your increased pace to keep warm are added factors.

Frustrations and anger may also be precipitating causes, especially if you have to keep them inside. If, instead of doing a slow burn, you can work off your rage by taking a brisk walk, swinging at a little white ball with a driver or a masher, or taking a lusty poke at a punching bag, you will be doing your heart a favor.

Sitting down and quietly talking about your feelings to your spouse or a sympathetic confidant may relieve your tensions and spare your heart.

SOME PERSONS are awakened from a sound sleep by an anginal attack. This may be due to emotion filled dreams that they do not remember on awakening or to discomfort in the digestive tract or bladder.

If you have anginal attacks and are a smoker, you may have to choose between your smokes and your heart. It is also wise to avoid heavy meals.

Eat often but take small portions. If you are overweight, however, every effort should be made to reduce, especially if your blood cholesterol level is high.

Although drugs for relief of anginal attacks are not as important as the preventive measures mentioned, they can be of great help. Nitroglycerin has long been a stand-by for this purpose. Long-acting nitrates are now available and have the advantage of keeping the coronary dilated most of the time. Other drugs with a similar action include dipyrindamole and pronthalol.

The surprising development has been the discovery that griseofulvin, the drug used to control fungus infections, reduces the frequency of anginal attacks. Probencid, the drug used in the treatment of gout, was likewise found to be effective in stopping attacks.

Marcel Duchamp, cubist painter whose work created a sensation at the New York Armory show in 1913, afterward gave up painting and devoted the latter part of his life to chess, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

By JERRY BUCK
RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—What ever happened to the hoboes I used to know as a kid?

I haven't seen an honest-to-goodness hobo in years. Apparently in this age of prosperity they have been squeezed into employment.

But to a kid in those first post-depression years they were everywhere. The railroad tracks were only a few blocks away and very freight train brought more of them to the Louisiana bayou country where I grew up.

Looking back, I suppose most of them were derelicts, bewildered and abandoned, but in those days they seemed like soldiers of fortune.

In old felt hats, knee-length coats and open-toed shoes, they had an aura of glamor. They came and went like the wind and every meal was a picnic around a camp fire.

We had no sidewalk in front of our house on which to scrawl a sign, but the hoboes all seemed to know my mother was an easy mark. She was always good for a plate of scrambled eggs, bread and a cup or two of coffee. Sometimes I would sit beside one on the back steps and watch him wolf down the food.

Dad had a brick yard along the tracks, and for a time it was a hobo Hilton. There wasn't much demand for bricks, and for months at a time its kilns stood empty. We used to play there, up the chimneys, down through the tunnels, and out again, yelling just to hear our echoes.

The hoboes turned the kilns in to harbors from the wet and the cold—and perhaps too from the world. A knapsack tossed into a corner and a blanket in the floor and it was home until the wail of a train whistle called them on again.

A few bricks made an excellent hearth on which to set a battered pot. I pooled my nickels with the hoboes for a sack of beans and salt pork. It odors filled our cavern, and nothing ever tasted better. We sat around the fire while the rain dripped outside and I heard embroidered tales of places that seemed to me like the Arabian Nights.

I was especially envious of one ingenious fellow who fashioned a home out of an abandoned auto. It sat under a weeping willow beside a brick pond filled with junk.

It was a shell. The motor and wheels, even the fenders, were gone. He stripped it bare inside, then plastered the walls and chinked the holes with newspapers to ward off the chill. From the junk heap he salvaged an old car seat and it was chair and bed. An upturned crate was a table.

Later, long afterward, a gang of us braced ourselves against the willow and shoved the car into the pond. A little sadly, I watched it settle into the murk.

They are gone now and no hoot of a diesel will ever bring them back. Like our childhood, they are gone.
